DETAILED ACTION

The amendment filed on 02/21/06 that replaces “a television signal” with “video” is drawn to the elected invention and presenting only claims drawn to a non-elected invention is non-responsive (See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03). The remaining claims are not readable on the elected invention because replacing “a television signal” with “video” changes the invention from the original meaning of the claims. Specifically, the previously claimed invention was a method of transiting between a display of a television signal and a auxiliary data from a auxiliary data network that delivers data apart from the television signal. The newly amended claims replaces “a television signal” with “video” thereby a television signal receiving auxiliary data is now just a video receiving auxiliary data. One of ordinary skill would readily recognize that the broadness of the term ‘video’ could include a DVD or video on demand or a host of other interpretations. Examiner is taking the position that the originally claimed invention as of 5/31/05 dealt with real-time transition between a display of a television signal and a auxiliary data from a auxiliary data network, wherein during the display of the television programming data delivered apart from the television signal could be received and interaction with the real-time received data could be implemented by the user. Furthermore, the newly amended claims 47 and 49 specifically teaches away from the original meaning of the claims by removing the term “televised” therein further distinguishing the real-time method of transiting between a display of a television signal and a auxiliary data from a auxiliary data network that delivers data apart from the television signal. Another example is the amendment of claims 57 and 59 that remove the term "television programming".

Since the above-mentioned amendment appears to be a bona fide attempt to reply, applicant is given a TIME PERIOD of ONE (1) MONTH or THIRTY (30) DAYS, whichever is longer, from the mailing date of this notice within which to supply the omission or correction in order to avoid abandonment. EXTENSIONS OF THIS TIME PERIOD UNDER 37 CFR 1.136(a) ARE AVAILABLE.
